

XyEnterprise Solutions from Arvato Digital Services

Arvato Digital Services has developed a suite of typesetting web-based solutions using XPP (XML Professional Publisher) software. The solution is an intuitive, web-based application, where users can access information and compose documents 24x7, 365 days a year from their desktop. Time to market is improved, costs are lowered, and you have the flexibility to customize your publishing.

Automated XPP Solution

We offer several solutions for web-based directory composition that decrease your production time, while significantly reducing your typesetting costs. These easy-to-use solutions empower users to manage catalog and directory data and graphics on-line. These web-based solutions put page creation in your control, without having to invest in expensive hardware, software, and/or technology infrastructure.

Our catalog solution allows you to create product-specific, customized directories in priced formats. In addition, a vast library of graphics can be developed to support data pages and product indexes for your catalog piece. Price changes can be managed through the interface, decreasing labor costs and shortening time to get published prices to your clients.

Our directory solution gives you complete control by providing you with an on-demand solution for creating, editing, and ordering directories and catalogs. You can view or print a proof directory to review for errors in data or format. The online ordering system within the solution can be used to submit orders to be printed on-demand or offset, and then bound and fulfilled based on your specific shipping options.

The web-based application pushes the data to the XPP system, which creates PDFs, Postscript or XML files. These files are then available for print, CD/DVD, e-mail or the Internet.

Our back end solution provides a flexible, easy to use web-based order management, through which users can create, manage and publish customized materials via the Internet. The solution incorporates a shopping cart driven ordering process, an online digital warehouse, kit and book management modules and administrative capability providing an end-to-end order management solution.

XPP Service Bureau

Some companies do not publish enough to justify the expense of the XPP system. In partnership with XyEnterprise, Arvato Digital Services typesets directories and catalogs on fee for hire basis. Turn times are quick, the end product is accurate, and there is no up-front investment by you.

About Us

Arvato Digital Services, the Document Life Cycle Specialist, is a market leader in providing customized publishing solutions to numerous industry segments. Arvato Digital Services delivers high value services that cover each stage of the document life cycle, including creation, printing and distribution. These solutions have helped business dynamically streamline, improve and gain management control of each aspect of the supply chain process. Please call Mike Donohue at 703-483-7662 for more information.

